THE MIDDLEBURY CAMPUS

VOL. X. THE MIDDLEBURY CAMPUS, WEDNESDAY, MAY 20, 1914. No. 8

A NEW CHAPEL.

Ex-Governor John A. Mead will Celebrate the Fiftieth Anniversary of His Graduation by Erecting a Chapel for Middlebury College. Announcement Received with Enthusiasm at Assembly of Faculty and Students May 15. Plans are Underway.

There was an atmosphere of expectation and curiosity about the college campus last Friday. President Thomas had invited the Faculty and students to assemble in the McCullough gymnasium in the evening, without announcing the object of the gathering, except that it "would be worth their while to be there." And it was! The "gym" was filled at the appointed time, at least fifty men finding "standing room only." The college band seemed to increase the expectancy of some announcement that would call for enthusiasm. Ex-President Brainerd and Ex-Governor Mead, '64, accompanied the president to the platform. The audience was not kept waiting long, for President Thomas soon brought out a manuscript from his pocket, and during a hushed approval which every one could sense, read the following letter from Dr. Mead:

Rev. Dr. John M. Thomas, LL.D.,
President of Middlebury College.

My Dear President Thomas:

In commemoration of the fiftieth anniversary of my graduation from Middlebury College, and in recognition of the gracious kindness of my heavenly Father to me throughout my life, I desire to erect a chapel to serve as a place of worship for the college, the same to be known as the "Mead Memorial Chapel." I have in mind a dignified and substantial structure, in harmony with the other buildings of the college, and expressive of the simplicity and strength of character for which the inhabitants of this valley and the State of Vermont have always been distinguished.

It was my great-great-grandfather, the first white settler of this valley, who brought the first copy of the Holy Bible into this unbroken wilderness, and it was his wife, my great-great-grandmother, who gathered her large family about her in an Indian wigwam for the first Christian service of the Vermont pioneers of this immediate region. With this memory ever present, it has been my hope and prayer that I might be able and permitted to build for this college a suitable place for divine worship and that it might rise from the highest point on its campus as a symbol of the position, most prominent in every respect, which Christian character and religious faith should always maintain in its work for our youth.

I have in mind the furnishing of from $50,000 to $60,000 for the erection of such a structure, and I hereby suggest that the Trustees of the college secure appropriate plans for its erection which shall meet with my approval, and that said Board appoint a Building Committee at once, consisting of President Thomas, former President Brainerd. and myself to make the necessary contracts for such a structure and to supervise the erection of the same, and I will then bind myself and estate to provide the necessary means for its erection and completion in accordance with the suggestions of this letter and with the contracts to be made by your committee.

Respectfully,
JOHN ABNER MEAD.

There could be no question of the hearty gratification which this letter evoked from all present. Cheer-leader Dade took the platform and the "long Middlebury" resounded for Middlebury's latest benefactor. Every one felt that a gift of great significance and importance had come at a most opportune moment, and as the donor spoke of his love for the college and feeling of gratitude towards her, of his early struggles to secure an education and his strong desire to see the work of the college perpetuated, the meaning of the gift became clearer to all.

Governor Mead spoke with deep feeling of his life while a student at Middlebury and of some of his experiences in the Union army while he was still enrolled as a member of the Class of 1864. He said that President Thomas had urged him to state some of the principles and maxims which had governed his life and by which he had attained success. These he summarized under "Five Don'ts,"

1. Don't follow the crowd. Think for yourself. Get out of the beaten path. Success in business depends upon the courage to follow your independent judgment. Do more than others. Work harder than any other man in the shop.
2. Don't worry about the smaller things of life, nor the large ones either. Fight your hardest and leave the results with God.
3. Don't use liquor or tobacco, in any form or in any amount.
4. Don't despair of success in life. You can accompiish what you wish. You have nothing in the world to be afraid of but yourselves.
5. Don't be afraid of poverty and don't be discouraged if you have a hard time to get a start. It is not the man who has the most at the beginning who succeeds best, but the man who is willing to work the hardest and who early learns to overcome obstacles.

At the close of his address Governor Mead was cheered long and heartily. President Thomas spoke briefly of the importance of a chapel in the work of a college, and said that in visiting other colleges and noting their beautiful chapels he had often longed for one for Middlebury. He said he hoped it would be the most commanding object on the campus, a building in harmony with the other buildings of the college.

Ex-President Brainerd was introduced by President Thomas as a wise and considerate friend, always loyal in his support, and generous and kindly in counsel. He was received with a cheer and spoke effectively of the value the new chapel would have for the college and the place which religious faith should play in all earnest life. Brief remarks were also made by Professor Harrington and Rev. Arthur H. Bradford, Governor Mead's pastor in Rutland.

In closing the meeting President Thomas said that the corner stone of the "Midd. Memorial Chapel" would be laid at Commencement, and that the exercises would be one of the features of Alumni Day, June 23.

And so Middlebury starts out on the road of progress once more, or rather continues steadily to advance despite discouragements and apparent setbacks. After the completion of the General Educafion Board fund of $200,000 and the Carnegie report, it looked as if progress was at an end for a time, and that the college would be forced to battle to keep even. Governor Mead has changed all that. His gift will inspire every friend of Middlebury to courage and optimism and every one will believe that still other gifts and yet more notable advance are to be the order of the day.

Student Government Election.

The annual meeting for the election of officers of the Student Government Association was held on Monday afternoon, May 18. The results of the election were as follows: President, Ruth Kendall; vice-president, Margaret Mills; secretary, Harriet Myers; treasurer, Josephine Tracy.

St. Louis. Mo., May 17.—Bankers in this part of the country are waiting eagerly for the new Federal reserve banking system to go into effect, and they feel confldent it will result in a general quickening of business, according to J. B. Jennings of Moberly, President of the Missouri Bankers' Association, who arrived here to attend the State convention of bankers tomorrow.

R. P. I. Track Meet.

On the 23rd Middlebury will meet R. P. I. in a track meet. With "Casey" and other veterans back in the line-up we hope to win. Anyhow, we will give them a good fight.

MIDD. DEFEATS COLGATE.

New Yorkers Go Down to Defeat Under a Fusillade of Hits by the Score of 12 to 5.

LAMERE AND "BRES" GATHER THREE SINGLES APIECE. ROBINSON OF COLGATE HITS HARD ALSO AND FINDS "REB" SHOOTS FOR A TRIPLE.

The Varsity left for Hamilton at noon on May 14 and crossed bats with Colgate University on the 15th. Colgate had recently defeated Union and Fordham, but she proved easy prey for the White and Blue and went down in crushing defeat by a score of 12 to 5. It was a loosely played game, all told, but every man on the Varsity fattened his batting average mightily with the exception of "Weaf," who had evidently left his "big stick eye" at home. Hicks, the conqueror of Fordham and Union, fell early by the wayside and was succeeded by "Bingo" Brown, who defeated us 4 to 1 last year. "Bingo" lasted one inning and one half this season. Lamere and Bresnehan drove out three singles apiece and Triggs, Alyward and Haskins found the ball for two. Catcher Robinson of Colgate took a liking to "Zeb's" offerings and gathered in a triple and two doubles. McLaughlin also played well. The team left for Utica immediately after the game and the next morning proceeded to Troy to meet the R. P. I. team.

1ST INNING.

Middlebury.—Triggs, the first man to face Hicks, singled. "Joe" drew a base on balls. Bresnehan singled and Triggs scored, but "Joe" was out on a throw from second to catcher. Weafer safe at first and "Bres" scored. "Zeb" safe at first. Jones out, third to first. Robinson whiffed for the third out. Two runs.

Colgate.—Robinson safe on a muffled fly by "Robbie." McLaughlin singled and Robinson scored. Glendening out, Jones to Loder. Abell singled. McLaughlin scored. Edgerton safe at first, but dies at second. Stewart safe at first. Hicks out, Jones to Loder. Two runs.

2ND INNING.

Middlebury.—Haskins out, second to first, and Loder out in the same way. Triggs fans, No runs, Colgate.—Johnson out at first. Jackson out on fly to Lamere. Robinson tripled. McLaughlin safe on an error. Glendening safe on an error by "Bres." Robinson scored. Abell drew a base on balls, Edgerton out by way of "Bres." One run.

3RD INNING.

Middlebury.—Lamere whiffed. Bresnehan singled, but was caught at second by a throw from catcher. Weafer whiffed. No runs, Colgate,—Stewart out at first. Hicks out. "Bres" to Loder. Johnson whiffed. No runs.

EDITORIAL.

That such buildings as Starr and Painter Halls are not considered by Fire Insurance companies as desirable risks, we all know, and what we all need is to minimize this risk as much as possible.

To make this workable there should be some sort of an organized volunteer fire company made up of those fellows who live in Starr and Painter. These should under the direction of the proper officers elected, form the company.

Then when we have the company established it might prove and excellent thing to hold a couple of surprise parties in the form of fire drills. It is nice weather now and all that could possibly be hurt would be the dispositions of the sleeping and they without doubt would recover before the time for Chapel.

These measures would be rather certain to make the chances break more in our favor should a fire break out, which may ever happen. Also don't forget to look out for matches and cigarettes.

It would look much better, it seems to us, if the fellows would play "toss and catch" back of the dormitory instead of squarely in front. There is a lack of dignity given to the buildings and campus and to the fellows themselves in this "fooling" on the walks. We can enjoy the same fun elsewhere and keep up the quiet dignity of old Midd. in the eyes of visitors from the outside world. The upper classmen have generally caught the correct spirit in this respect and freshmen, probably due to their short experience, are the chief offenders. Now fellows, we do not wish to seem "prudish," but President Thomas dislikes to see this playing and we know that you yourselves will catch his idea if you stop and think. Why not do it now ?

The Women's College wants to say how much they like the new Middlebury cheers and yells. The spirit at the ball games and other college functions is certainly mighty good and a large part of it is due to the enthusiastic cheer leader and the corresponding enthusiasm of those he leads. But please don't laugh at the squeaks, squeals and queer sounds that our part of the grand stand emits when three runs are made in the last inning. We just have to do something to express our glee, you know, and if you would send us a a cheer leader perhaps we could make some "well-regulated noise." That's all.

Well girls, how about making arrangements for a mixed doubles interclass championship series? It could be worked out into a most exciting contest for several teams could be chosen which would be very evenly matched. Of course the men have had considerable practice during the past week while the girls have had little or none, but this would not prove detrimental in mixed doubles. After a few preliminary skirmishes we could have some fine teams ready for action. Think this idea over and let us know.

For four years we have wondered why the faculty chapel attendence was so meagre and why it increased on certain occasions. Accordingly for ten days we kept a list. A certain faculty member gives a most practical reason for attending the morning devotionals, "it is to start the day right, to get waked up before we begin the day's work". It doesn't seem that many of his confreres start right. In our search for statistics on this lack of attendance at chapel on the part of our professors, we discovered that many of them were complaining of ill-health and the disproportionment of their salary to the cost of living. It was only to be suspected. A little less night-study or bridge-playing, a seven o'clock rising hour — would in short time prove the force of that old adage, "Early to bed, early to rise, makes a man healthy, wealthy, and wise."

It is following this rule that makes all of the undergraduates in such fine condition physically and financially, Besides the freshmen need the good example that a well-filled faculty row would create. We are going to keep the list for a while longer in hope that the attendance will pick up with the warmer days and the early rising of the sun.

The U. S. war department is planning on accomodating four thousand college and high school students at the summer camps of instruction in army manoeuvres. These camps will be located at Burlington, Vt.; Ashville, N. C.; Ludington, Mich.; and Monterey, Cal. Aside from the cost of transportation there will be no expense but a living charge of about $3.50 per week. Students in these camps will be in line for appointments as officers in the Volunteer army.

MIDD. 3—R. P. I. 2

"Jack" Pitches a Fine Game and Wins His Second 3 to 2 Victory. Robinson Raps Out a Lusty Triple.

POOR UMPIRING MARS SOMEWHAT THIS HOTLY CONTESTED STRUGGLE. MIDD'S SIXTH STRAIGHT VICTORY.

On Saturday, May 16th the, White and Blue team downed R. P. I. by the U. V. M. score of 3 to 2, making Middlebury's sixth straight victory. "Jack" Vail twirled for Midd and pitched fine ball all the way and Merrick performed well for the R. P. I., boys. Each allowed six hits, the former fanning six and the latter seven. "Joe" Lamere kept up his fine stick work and with two pretty singles totaled five as his trip record, "Robbie" smashed out a fine triple in the fourth but was unable to score. All Midd's scores came in the second inning on a base on balls, some weird throwing, and three singles. R. P. I. scored in the first on a single and double, and again in the eighth when three errors made matters look quite precarious. The umpire was evidently not of a clear and judicial mind and plainly showed his inability to live up to the profession which he had chosen for the day. Several decisions were pretty raw and troubles brewed at various times but were settled satisfactorily. A good crowd was present including several Middlebury alumni and former students.

1ST INNING.

Middlebury — Triggs struck out. Lamere safe at first on error. "Bres" doubled but Weafer and Vail died at first by way of the pitcher. No runs.

R. P. I.—Huyck out, "Bres" to Loder. Macken struck out. Gallagher singled. Behan doubled and scored Gallagher but was caught off second by a throw from "Bres" to Jones. One run.

2ND INNING.

Middlebury—Jones out, third to first. Robinson walked and Haskins scored him with a single and came in himself on errors. Loder singled, Triggs out, second to first. Lamere singled and scored Loder. "Bres" out by way of second and first. Three runs.

R. P. I.—McManus struck out. Merrick out at first. Higbee out, short to first. No runs.

3RD INNING.

Middlebury--Weafer out, short to first. Vail and Jones struck out. No runs.

R. P. I.—Culver out, short to first. Woodworth doubled, but was caught by Triggs. Huyck out. No runs.

4TH INNING.

Middlebury—Robinson tripled but was out trying to reach the plate. "Hask" out, third to first, Loder out on fly to right. No runs.

R. P. I.—Conklin (in place of Macken) out, pitcher to first Gallagher out on pop fly to "Jack." Behan struck out. No runs.

5TH INNING.

Middlebury—Triggs out, short to first. Lamere out, short to first. Bresnehan drew a base on balls and stole second. Weafer struck out. No runs.

R. P. I.—McManus out on short fly to "Bres." Merrick struck out. Higbee singled. Culver out by way of "Weaf." No runs.

6TH INNING.

Middlebury—Vail out on fly to right. Jones struck out and "Robbie" did likewise. No runs.

R. P. I. Woodworth.out, Triggs to Loder. Huyck singled. Conklin out on fly to left. Gallagher out. Vail to Loder. No runs.

7TH INNING.

Middlebury—Haskins out, second to first. Loder struck out- Triggs out on fly to right. No runs.

R. P. I.—Behan struck out. McManus out on fly to Lamere. Merrick out. "Bres" to Loder. No runs.

8TH INNING.

Middlebury. — Lamere singled, but was out at second. "Bres" out at first. Weafer died on fly to right. No runs.

R. P. I.—Higbee safe on error. Culver struck out. Woodworth safe on error. Huyck out, Vail to Loder. Conklin safe on error. Higbee scored, Gallagher out on a fly to "Joe.,' One run.

9TH INNING.

Middlebury.—Vail out on fly to third. Jones out on fly to second. Robinson out on fly to right. No runs.

La Follette's $12,000 Speech.

Possibly a fairly rapid talker could pronounce all the words on a page of the Congressional Record in five minutes.

At that rate 1825 minutes would have been required for the delivery of Senator Robert Marion La Follette's speech advocating starvation for the railroads of the United States; in other terms, 20 hours and 25 minutes, or a little less than four days of eight working hours each.

But Senator Robert Marion La Follette did not speak nearly so long as that. He spoke only on one day.

The question arises, then, how he secured the printing of a speech that covers 365 pages of the Congressional Record. It must be that in addition to doing actual talking he availed himself liberally of the privilege of "leave to print" all at a cost of more than $12,000 to the people.

That is more than the publication of all the speeches that Mr. La Follette ever delivered and may yet deliver is worth, or even may seem to be worth to anyone other than himself.

It would be well if a little of the scientific management which is urged upon the railroads by men who don't know the railroad business were applied to the Congressional Record which has become a limitless dumping ground for the effusions and ebulitions of men whose estimate of their own importance is boundlessly inflated, watered and overcapitalized.—Albany Journal.

Levi Parsons Morton, one of the quartet of surviving ex-vice presidents, will be showered with congratulations today at his beautiful country place on the Hudson, where, surrounded by relatives and friends, he will celebrate his 90th birthday.

A man of remarkable vitality, the distinguished citizen of New York bids fair to break the longevity record held by a predecessor in office, John Adams of Massachusetts, who died at the age of four-score years and ten.

The other living ex-vice presidents are: Adlai E. Stevenson, born in 1835; Theodore Roosevelt, born in 1850, and Charles W. Fairbanks, born in 1852.

By the way, Mr. Stevenson, who has been ill for some time, was taken to Chicago yesterday from his home in Bloomington, Ill., for medical treatmrnt.—Roston Globe.

Levi Morton has received an honorary degree from Middlebury. He was formerly from Rutland, Vt.

Levi P. Morton was the donor of one of Middlebury's scholarships.

The New Ambassadorships.

The establishment of embassies by the United States in Argentina and Chile, where we have had legations, will be approved by the American people. Both of these South American republics have been developed by the industry and patriotism of their inhabitants into first-class powers, of the same status as Brazil and as Mexico before it was unsettled by civil war, and it is right that our chief diplomatic representatives in both should have ths highest rank in the service. Of course, the Ministers of Argentina and Chile at Washington will be elevated to rank without delay.

Track Meet—R. P. I. vs. Middlebury, Saturday, May 23.

Takes Rockefeller Chair.

The Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research has announced that Dr, Theobald Smith, now professor of comparative pathology in Harvard Medical School, has accepted the place of director of its new department of animal pathology. Mr. Rockefeller added $1,000,000 not long ago to the endowment of this department, and James J. Hill pledged $50,000 to be used in the study of hog cholera. The department has not been organized or equipped, but it is expected that it will begin active work in a year. In the meantime Dr. Smith will continue at Harvard.

Dr. Smith discovered the fact germ diseases are carried by insects, leading, thereby to the discoveries in the spread and treatment of yellow fever, malaria, typhoid and other diseases.

Astronomers throughout the country are preparing to make observations during the eclipse of the sun on August 21. The eclipse will be total in parts of Europe and Asia but only partial in North America.

Second Team Defeats Rutland High School.

While the first team was defeating R. P. I. on Saturday last, the college second team journeyed to Rutland and there defeated the Rutland High School delegation to the merry tune of 12-0. The game was loose and the hitting hard. Rutland's team made many costly errors.

That Middlebury had the superior team was clearly shown before the first three innings were finished.

Gilbert pitched fine ball early in the game but received the worst of support and finally went to pieces, allowing nine of Middlebury's men to walk.

Vaugh, one of the Middlebury team, made his name famous for the day, by a home run in the ninth inning when he clouted the ball over the center field fence. Middlebury played a fast game throughout the nine innings.

The score by innings:—

		R.	H.	E.
M. C. 2d.	0 2 0 0 0 1 2 1 6—	12	7	5
R. R. S.	0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0—	0	2	10

Summary—Earned runs, R- H. S., 0; Middlebury, 6; first on balls, off Gilbert, 9; off Garrison, 5; left on bases, R. H. S., 6; Middlebury, 7; first base on errors, R. H. S., 2; Middlebury, 7; two base hits, Garrison, Denhurst; home runs, Vaughn; struck out by Gilbert, 6. Garrison, 8. hit by pitcher, Norton.

On Sunday, May 17, the "conquering heroes" returned from their trip to Colgate and R. P. I. Almost all the fellows were on hand when the 12:06 train pulled in, ready to give the glad hand. A pleasant trip was reported by all. Hicks, Brown and Sefton twirled for Colgate in the order named. The last mentioned was a former student at Middlebury and U. V. M. Brown pitched against us last year, but he seemed to have lost some of his effectiveness and went down in an inning and a half. The game at R. P, I. was hard fought from start to finish. It is expected that the Varsity will play a game with Boston College at Middlebury on May 23.

Talks on "Love and Sentiment."

BY MILDRED FAREWELL.

[ED. NOTE. Questions on love and sentiment will be gladly advised upon by Miss Farewell. Address letters to the "Love and Sentiment" editor of THE CAMPUS.[

DEAR MISS FAREWELL:

I am a bright young lady, a nice dancer and have a jolly disposition. All year I have been receiving attention off and on from a cute little freshman boy. Now, during Junior Week he had a strange girl come to town whom he entertained all week. She wasn't a bit pretty, really, she was a fright. I thought I'd be able to win back his love, but it all seems in vain. He'll hardly look at me. My life is sear'd forever. What shall I do to revenge myself on that "hussy."

Since-Sear-ly

BLUE EYES.

BLUE EYES:

I appreciate your difficulty and desire for revenge. Why don't you let this other girl have him?

Impressions of Middlebury College.

Editor of the Campus,
Middlebury, Vt.

Dear Sir:—If your paper has a circulation among prospective college students, I believe that you can help me in the performance of a duty which I have felt encumbent upon me since my visit to my alma mater.

I do not know how many of you students appreciate the advantages which Middlebury offers in the training of the young man or woman. I do not know how many of them have come to see the truths of which I am about to speak. Perhaps the perspective from which I view the situation enables me to see more comprehensively the manifold opportunities of Middlebury as a college than they may see them now, but I know that they will come to see things as I now see them, so I will concern myself only with those who now are confronting the problem that once perplexed me—their choice of college.

I need not repeat to you the almost inexpressible joy which filled my heart when first I stepped from the train at Middlebury station and fastened my eyes for the first time on the green hills of old Vermont. It was if I were shaking the hand for the first time of one whom I instinctively knew was to be a true and intimate friend. I shall never forget my first view of the quaint little village of churches. I shall never forget as I passed thru' the town and turned up College street my first view of the college of marble halls, then the forest of campus trees. Even then, the stately though modest building looming up on the crest of the hill, impressed me as monuments to some great sacrificing men, or as monuments to the intellectuality and culture that for generations has been taught within her halls.

Indeed the college has much of which to be proud, for as I look over her history of a useful one hundred and fourteen years, I see a record of attainment among her sons of relatively greater worth than any college with which I have been acquainted. It was the appreciation of this truth which led me first to wonder at and later to understand the advantages which Middlebury enjoys.

First, I say it is located in a village of churches, a village which is free from the ravages of liquor and other social vices, a village with a New England conscience.

Secondly, it is in a village which is alive politically and intellectually, the "Athens" of Vermont, it has been called. Can one well imagine a more ideal community in which to secure one's education, a community that is alive, and yet shows the presence of strong, active and clean men. No doubt the college is in part at least the cause of this Utopian condition, but the city student college must reflect what does not exist in your little mountain town—social and political corruption.

And now as a last word, I call your attention, and trust that I may be calling it to the attention of many a perplexed young prospective collegian, —that Middlebury turns out today as she has in the past, strong and active men and women for the simple reason that she has the proper location for a decidedly up-to-date college, and no greater compliment could I pay her.

Very truly yours,

— — ———

Middlebury Union.

The Middlebury Union, on the evening of May 19th, held an interesting meeting in the Chapel. Professor Wetherell delivered the speech of the evening, after a lengthy introduction by "Bob" Bundy, '14. "Present Day Questions in the Modern College Man's Education", was the topic spoken on. He favored wide education with a side specialty as a supplement to the broad field. College is a field of training for man's best efforts in the outside world and he should work to be a leader in his field and do his best. The field of "public questions" important because of the duty we owe as citizens of the United States. The wrong of thoughtless voting is very dangerous to this country and best way to wipe out the blot is to work up clear understandings of the questions which affect us all. The Civics Club also gives its share to this field in the use of debate.

There is a motion at present before the Student Government] association in regard to a Point System which shall be used here. Perhaps a word or two of explanation would not come amiss. This is not a system to exclude girls from offices, but rather to distribute the offices among a larger number. No girl can hold more than ten points during a college year. The various officers are divided by their value in points in majors and minors, all worth four points and over being considered majors. A point committee will keep a record of each girl and determine if she is eligible for any office to which she may be nominated. This system is in use with much success at nearly all of the large women's colleges, and the women's college of Middlebury should not be behind in progessive methods.

The girls' tennis courts are progressing slowly. Perhaps they will be ready for use before exams. begin, we hope so.

STUDENT NOTES.

Ratti, '15. spent the week end at his home in Proctor.

Vera Suter, '14, is spending several days at her home in Swanton Vt.

The game with Norwich at Northfield has been shifted to the 28th of May.

Miss Ruth Hall has been entertaining her mother, Mrs. Martha Hall, of Bennington.

Practically all the Junior Week guests are gone, and peace and quiet now reigns on the hill.

Prof. Abbott and Mrs. Abbott have taken apartments in the Phelps house on Pleasant street.

Hawkes, '17, Dickinson '16, and Condit '16 attended the R. P. I., game at Troy, Saturday.

The Senior girls are to be entertained by Mrs. Thomas and by Mrs. White during the next two weeks.

Gladys Wilson, '14, is in a hospital at Hanover, N. H., where she is recovering from an operation for appendicitis.

The Women's Musical association has started rehearsals for the concert to be given on Tuesday of Commencement Week.

Miss Marjorie Martin, ex.-'16. has entered the Mary Fletcher hospital in Burlington, where she intends to train for a nurse.

Prof. and Mrs. Charles B. Wright are expected to return to Middlebury the last of May or the first of June, after a long trip abroad.

Dan T. Mason was called to his home in Hardwick, Vt., Saturday morning by the serious illness of his father, who underwent an operation that morning

Prof. C. A. Lyford has purchased the B. F. Wales property on Weybridge street, which he will occupy immediately.

Miss Eunice Cady '16 announced her engagement to Roy Meeker of Pittsfield, Mass. The announcement was made at a party at the Sigma Kappa rooms.

Prof. Arthur F. Barnes and the members of the engineering department, who made a trip to manufacturing houses in and about Troy, N. Y., during the past few days, returned Sunday. The students were present at the R. P. I. contest.

Miss Sophie Musgrove visited friends at Mount Holyoke last week, for the May Day which they have there every spring. On account of the weather the dances and the masque had to be presented indoors, but they were very beautifully done, although in some respects not as pretty as our Spring Festival of last year.

The victorious members of the White and Blue team were given a grand welcome at the depot Sunday noon on their arrival from Troy, N. Y., where on Saturday "Midd" defeated R. P. I., in a great contest, score 3 to 2. The whole student body was at the station. The students cheered and rushed at each player and congratulated him as he came off the train. The welcome home demonstration was one of the best ever given by the students. The Varsity has not been defeated this season. Coach Murch said that "Midd" was there in every way at the Colgate game on Friday when Midd won 12 to 5. He also said that the boys did some great work on Saturday.

The Small Boy's Plaint.

Ef I wus big, ma could't say "come son,
It's high time that your nightly chores was done."
I wouldn't hev to go and feed the cows,
Or hunt for hens eggs up in the hay mows,
Or lug out swill for our old greedy pig,
Ef I wus big.

Ef I wus only growed up strong and tall
I wouldn't hev to go to school at all.
What good is it to know the rule of three?
Or learn why elaphunts can't climb a tree?
Whenever I felt good I'd dance a jig.
Ef I wuz big

Ef I wus big Pa couldn't dast ter stand
With a great butter paddle in his hand
And say, "Im goin' ter larrup you now, Jim"
'Cause I'de be large enough to larrup him.
For butter paddles I'd not care a fig.
Ef I wus big.

I know what I will do when I'm so old
That Pa dont dast lick me and Ma won't scold
I'll swipe a jar of jelly off the shelf
And eat up every bit of it myself
But then no one will call me an old pig,
'Cause I'll be big.

Ef I hed lots of money like Tom Brown
The chap that owns the swellest house in town,
I'd get a girl who looks like Nellie Gray
And go a sparkin' her most every day,
And take her out to ride in my new gig,
Ef I wuz big.

But still it's kinder nice ter be a boy
'Cause men folks don't hev much they kin enjoy
They never kin go swimmin' in the lake,
Er chaw green apples and git stummick ache,
I'd hate to be all dressed up like a prig,
Guess I'm glad that I aint big.

'09. Mr. and Mrs. Henry White of the class of 1909 are in Middlebury for a visit.

'10. Gwendolyn Morris spent Saturday with friends in Middlebury.

'13. Earl Tracey '13 was in town over Sunday.

'13. Miss Ruth M. Brookins has been elected teacher of domestic arts for next year at Stevens High school and has accepted. Miss Brookins is a graduate of Middlebury college, class of 1913, and has had charge of the domestic arts course in Springfield, Vermont, High school the past year, where she has been very successful. Her experience in installing a domestic arts course and in buying equipment and supplies will be very valuable. She is also a college graduate and the requirements of the position make it advisable to employ a college graduate. Her work in Springfield has been inspected and the school authorities there had already re-elected her at an increase of salary. Her home is at Middlebury, Vt.

Y. W. C. A.

Miss Elizabeth Dodge, chairman of the Northeastern Field committee of the National Board of Y. W. C. A., spoke at the Y. W. C. A. meeting of May 14th. She held every one's attention as she gave a delightful account of the work of the national Y. W. C. A. both in America and foreign lands.

The drawing for rooms in Starr and Painter halls will take place in the chapel, Monday, June 1st, at 1:30 p. m. Any wishing to reserve their present rooms may do so by depositing $5.00 with the treasurer before that time. All rooms not reserved by that time will be drawn in order of classes, A deposite of $5.00 is required from each occupant of the rooms. When a student takes possession of a room at the beginning of the college year, it is understood that he is responsible for the rent throughout the entire college year if he remains in college. He may sub-let the room to another student, but the charge for room rent will remain on his account with the college.

Listen my children and you shall know
Of the reverend seniors latest show.
How on Thursday of Junior Week
The dignified men did almost weep
To see the brilliant parasols
Adorn our learned marble halls.
But did you notice the otter heads
Which top the senior canes of red?
Brave warriors "totem poles" indeed
Marked in all classes without leave.
The reason of the thundering noise
In class, and the manifest limp? Joys
Of the ever present senior canes.
